Agenda

- 1:00 pm Welcome and Introductions
- 1:05 pm Update: Recent Eno Activities
Robert Puentes, President/CEO, will provide an overview of recent Eno activities and impact, including Eno's new website and new Board of Advisors roster.
- 1:15 pm Presentation: EnoMAX
Eno's Multi-Agency Exchange (MAX) Program is a collaborative leadership development, inter-agency networking and best practice-sharing program between public transit operators. Dyan Wolfe, Eno's Director Professional Development Programs, will describe the program, its impact, and future plans.
- 1:30 pm Presentation: Autonomy and the Future of the FAA
Determining how unmanned aerial systems (UAS) are integrated into the national airspace system is a critical imperative. Paul Lewis, VP of Finance and Policy, will describe how Eno is convening a diverse set of stakeholders and conducting cutting-edge research to tackle this new frontier in aviation and help shape the future of the FAA.
- 1:45 pm Presentation: Congestion Pricing
While congestion pricing strategies have worked elsewhere around the globe, no American city has yet attempted it. Brianne Eby, Policy Analyst, will discuss Eno's work to develop a set of principles for places to consider as they develop their own pricing schemes, and organize a group of leaders to see congestion pricing in action.
- 2:00 pm Presentation: Transit Project Delivery
There is considerable scrutiny about the costs of rail transit projects and the time they take to construct. A few very visible projects reinforce the narrative that these investments have systemic issues endemic to the United States, especially when compared to Western Europe. Robert Puentes will discuss a new Eno project to analyze current and historical trends in public transit project delivery.
- 2:15 pm Discussion: Additional Items/Q&A
Karen Price, Director, Development and Strategic Partnerships will discuss next steps including plans for the joint meeting between Eno's Board of Directors and Board of Advisors.
- 2:30 pm Adjourn
