

About Eno

Eno sits at the intersection of policy, practice, and leadership—where decisions about the nation’s transportation system actually take shape. We tackle the issues that determine how people and goods move, offering independent analysis that cuts through noise and helps leaders understand what matters and why.

At the same time, we develop the talent the industry relies on. From emerging professionals to senior executives, Eno equips leaders with the context, skills, and networks needed to navigate a rapidly changing transportation landscape.

Better policy requires better ideas and better leaders.
Eno develops both.

OUR VISION

A transportation system that fosters economic vitality, advances social equity, and improves the quality of life for all.

OUR MISSION

Eno shapes public debate on critical multimodal transportation issues and builds a network of innovative professionals.

OUR VALUES

As an organization, Eno values independence, collaboration, relevance, excellence, and entrepreneurialism.

“Eno is a important and independent voice serving the transportation industry. “

- Mary Peters, Fmr. Secretary of Transportation & Member, Eno Board Emeritus

How Eno Creates Impact

We inform

Independent research and policy analysis that clarify issues and guide decision-making

We convene

Cross-sector roundtables, briefings, and forums that bring leaders together to share insight and shape solutions.

We develop

Professional development programs that equip transportation leaders with the skills, context, and network to excel.

Engage with Eno

Transportation doesn't move forward on its own. Eno brings the policy insight, leadership development, and cross-sector collaboration that help the nation tackle its most pressing challenges.

POLICY INSIGHT (ETW + RESEARCH)

Independent analysis that shapes transportation decisions in America

ETW and Eno's research provide trusted, nonpartisan insight used by Congress, DOTs, transit agencies, and industry leaders.

PEOPLE DEVELOPMENT

Training that equips transportation professionals to lead with confidence.

From early-career to executive levels, Eno's programs build the skills, context, and network leaders need to navigate a complex industry.

ROUNDTABLES + CONVENINGS

Cross-sector discussions that move the conversation—and solutions—forward.

Leaders dig into funding, workforce, innovation, resilience, and other issues shaping the future of transportation.

ALUMNI NETWORK

Connections that strengthen the transportation ecosystem.

Eno's events and 4,000-member alumni network open doors to influential leaders, emerging ideas, and long-term professional relationships.

Our Partnership Philosophy

Eno's partnerships are built on mutual value, integrity, and shared commitment to advancing transportation policy and leadership. We work with organizations whose values align with our nonpartisan, evidence-based mission. In alignment with our core values, Eno does not seek or accept financial support that would undermine or compromise our commitment to remain unbiased and independent.
